Statement

It is a distinct pleasure for me to write a few words to you about myself. I used to work at General Intelligence Department with two years of experience, and I worked as Chair of Juvenile Delinquents Section. Social Defiance Department at Ministry of Social Development with three years of experience in Jordan.

I received a Ph.D. degree in Criminology at Indiana University of Pennsylvania in 1992. I hold two Master's Degrees, one in Industrial and Organization Psychology from Western Michigan University, and a second in Guidance and Counseling Psychology, and B.A in Psychology and Sociology, from the University of Jordan . Arabic is my native language, however due to the many years of pursuing my education at American Higher institutions and my personal research interests I believe I have sound command of the spoken English Language and the ability to produce and publish in both English and Arabic journals. During my studies at Indiana University of Pennsylvania I have had many opportunities to lecture and teach undergraduate students.

After a rewarding learning experience throughout my studies at the US, I returned to my homeland Jordan and was appointed in the Department of Psychology at Mutah University as Assistant Professor I taught different courses in psychology for Bachelor Students. At that time no criminology department was established at that intuition, and within 4 years I decided to transfer to the Department of Sociology at the same university to further pursue my research within their department.

In 1996, I had been a participant in the Post Doctoral Fellowship Program sponsored by the National Center for Education Research and Development and was assigned to the University of Houston. I was involved in different events and activities through The College of Education. I observed many cases of prisoners at correction and rehabilitation centers and observed related courses about jails in USA. In addition to observing classroom teaching in social studies, and I spent considerable time on campus learning about the university's teacher education program, which has helped me gain different insights that I later on took back my university and shared with my colleagues and applied in my own classrooms. Also I attended many professional development seminars on campus regarding specific topics, such as "problem solving" and "cooperative Learning".

Upon my return to Jordan, I was appointed as the Dean of the Arts and Sciences Faculty at Mutah University Branch in Ma'an City Southern of Jordan. After that I worked at King Fahad Security College, Kingdom Of Saudi Arabia. My experience specific to teaching criminology courses to police officers and other officials.

After a year I returned to the position of Dean of Students Affairs at Mutah University. I then worked in the UAE as Associate Professor at Sharjah Police Sciences Academy and I was transferred to General Director of Abu Dhabi Police, Ministry of Internal affairs to conduct research on understanding the correlation aspects of crime and region in their country. During that period of time I taught General Psychology at ADU. In 2004, I returned to Mutah University in Jordan as a Dean of Students Affairs until Nov. 22. 2008, at the same time I taught few courses for undergraduate and graduate students especially for criminology field, criminal justice and sociology. I worked with other colleagues on developing the first higher education criminology program to be developed in Jordan and the opportunity to serve as an adviser for students seeking their higher education in criminology.

In 2010, I worked as Professor at The Hashemite University, Department of Educational Psychology, Zarqa, Jordan, at the same time I taught Few Psychology Courses for undergraduate and graduate students. . In Jun 01, 2010. I was appointed as the President Consultant for The Hashemite University.

Currently, I am a Professor at Jordan University, Faculty of Arts, Department of Psychology, Amman, Jordan. I am teaching Psychology courses to both undergraduate and graduate students and one of the Board of Trustees for Al-Zaytoonah University of Jordan.

I believe that the variety and diversity of my experiences qualify me for the position at your institution. If granted the opportunity, I would make sure to use my previous experiences and build upon them.

Sincerely,

Abatah D. Daher, Ph.D
